Chiang Mai, Thailand

"We took a trip of a lifetime to Thailand for our honeymoon. My wife loves elephants, so we spent two days in the jungle at an elephant rehabilitation sanctuary."

Explore sprawling street markets and hundreds of centuries-old Buddhist temples, wander the beautiful, mountainous countryside or play with elephants at a local sanctuary.

Enjoy a rich variety of street food from khao soi (egg noodle curry) to som tam (green papaya salad), or visit a Michelin Star-winning restaurant for Northern Thai or contemporary dishes.

ABOUT THE TRAVELER

Brendan Hughes | Inside Sales Manager

Brendan lives with his wife in Sutton, Mass. An avid golfer, he often plays nine holes before work. He once served breakfast to Ozzy and Sharon Osbourne while working as a caterer.

Oahu, Hawaii

“The best part of visiting Hawaii was absorbing the gratitude and respect the locals have for life and the islands. Being in a place filled with so much thankfulness was an unbelievably grounding experience.”

Watch a big wave surfing competition, hike the scenic trails or visit Kualoa Ranch to see where Jurassic Park, Lost and other popular films and TV shows were shot.

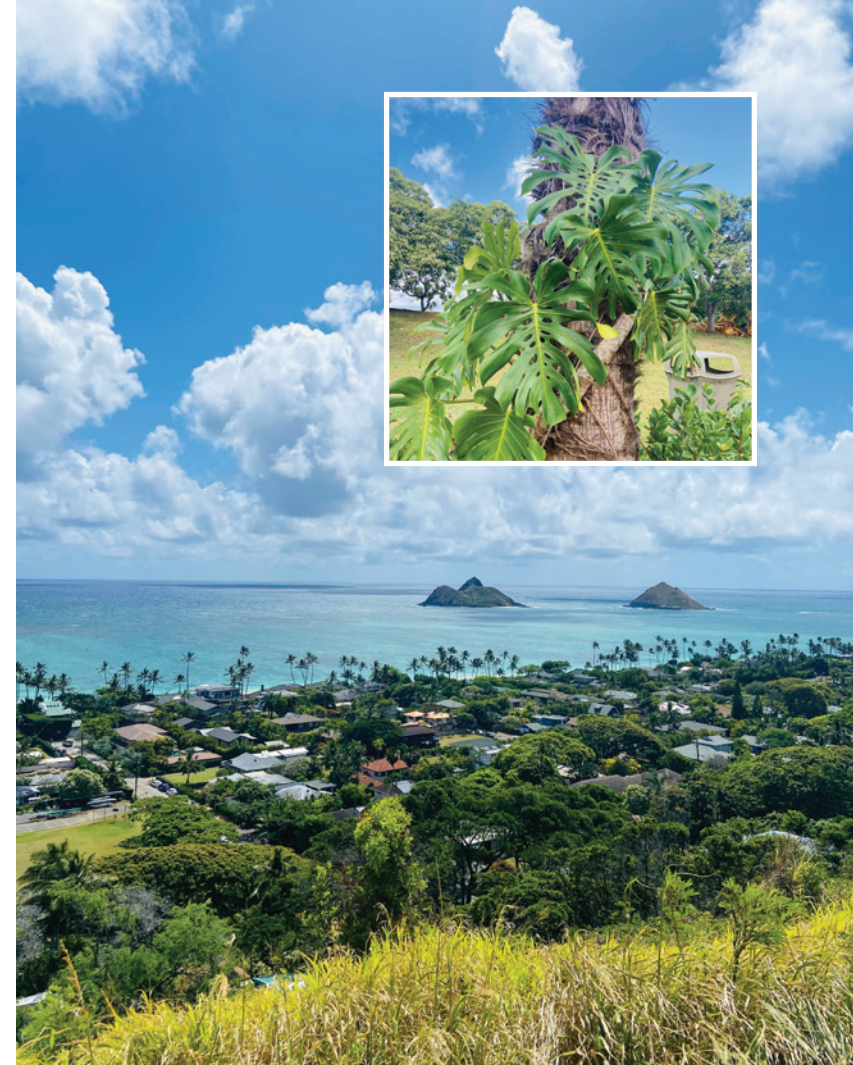

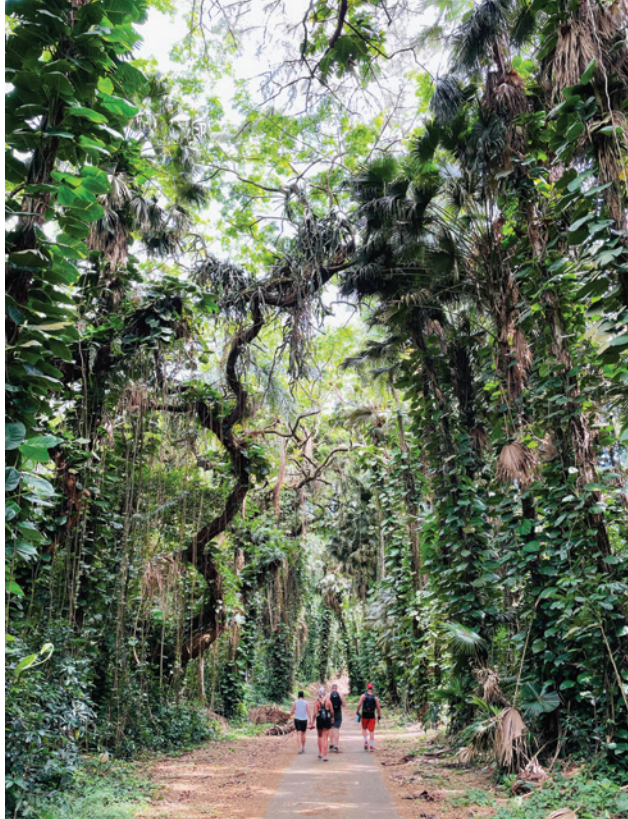

Sample authentic poké from Ry's Poké Shack, explore the culinary legacy of surfer Duke Kahanamoku at Duke's Waikiki or grab a late-night bite at M.A.C. 24/7.

ABOUT THE TRAVELER

Lauren Carroll | Associate Product Trainer

A former pre-school teacher, Lauren is passionate about physical activity and spending time outdoors. She also enjoys finding and working on a variety of DIY projects.

Chefchaouen, Morocco

"This is a must-see city! Chefchaouen has a rich, 500-plus-year history, and the entire city is painted blue (earning the nickname "The Blue Pearl of Morocco"). It's a photographer's dream!"

Get pleasantly lost in the city's winding blue alleys and bustling markets, visit a café for traditional Moroccan mint tea or enjoy a bird's eye view from the nearby Spanish Mosque.

Try traditional lamb dishes at Restaurant Lalla Messouda, dine at communal tables with locals and tourists alike at Restaurant Populaire Bab Ssour or sample Café Restaurant Sofia's tajine.

ABOUT THE TRAVELER

Meghan Farrington | HR Business Partner

Meghan lives in Walpole, Mass. with her husband, James, and dog, Strudel. Despite a family-wide distaste for coffee, her parents once owned and operated a coffee shop.

Galway, Ireland

"The Irish are the friendliest people you'll ever meet. And, of course, the Guinness is fantastic, too! As they say, 'Travel round the globe, but first see Ireland.'"

Take in the views over Galway Bay, explore the shops and restaurants of High Street or cross the River Corrib to visit the seaside resort of Salthill.

Stop by McDonagh's (est. 1902) for fish and chips, grab a cider or Guinness at The Kings Head pub and check out traditional live music at Tigh Choili.

ABOUT THE TRAVELER

Emily Powers | Product Program Manager

Originally from New York, Emily now lives in Malden, Mass. with her husband, John, and their dog, Murphy, and cat, Astrid. She holds dual citizenship in Ireland and the US.

Lake O'Hara, British Columbia

"Lake O'Hara is beautiful, pristine—just perfect. I officiated my cousin's wedding there in October 2019. It's a great place to disconnect and unwind."

Hike or climb Lake O'Hara's alpine trails, take a dip in Radium Hot Springs or pop across the border to Alberta and explore the turquoise, glacier-fed Lake Louise.

The Grizzly Paw Brewing Company offers great beer and a variety of hearty dishes for tired hikers in the nearby town of Canmore, Alberta.

ABOUT THE TRAVELER

Timothy Hadley | Senior Customer Success Manager

Born and raised in Michigan, Timothy lives in Warren, Michigan with his wife, two dogs, two cats and a ball python. He plays ukulele and is a part-owner of the Detroit City Football Club.

Samarkand, Uzbekistan

"Uzbekistan is a country rarely visited by Western tourists and even less by Americans. The people were so gracious and excited to engage with us, even though it was usually through hand gestures."

Visit Registan Square day and night for distinctly beautiful sights, shop with locals at the Siab Bazaar or take in the grandeur of the Bibi-Khanyim Mosque.

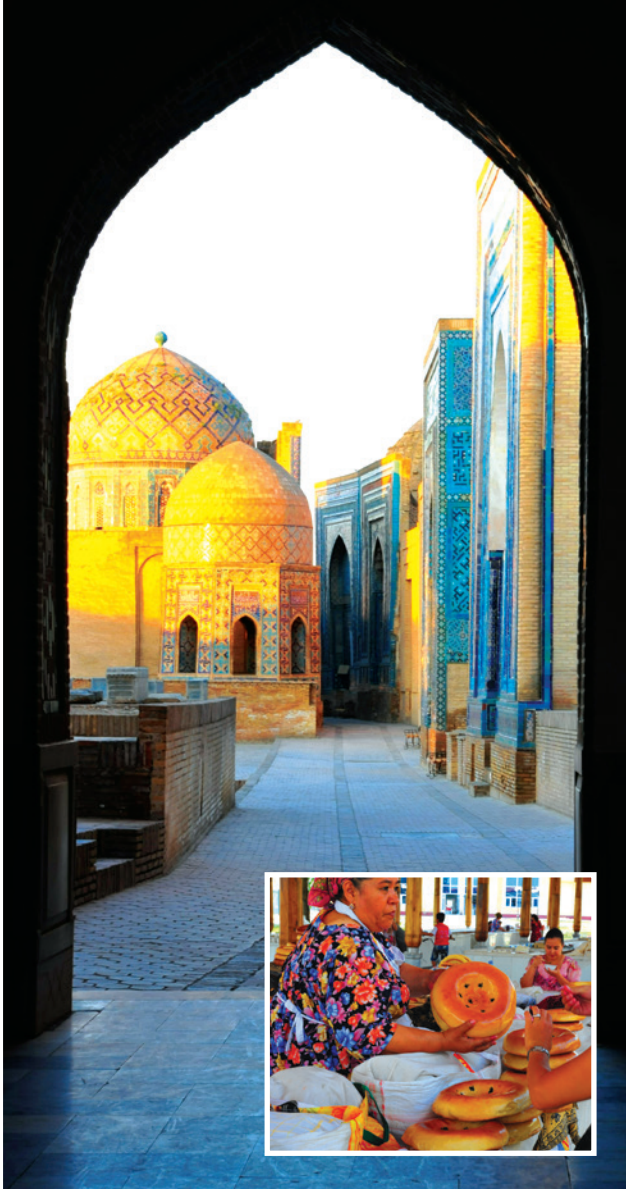

In addition to Samarkand's specialty breads and pickled vegetables, visitors should try plov, a substantial rice dish cooked in a cast-iron pot, topped with chunks of lamb, veggies and spices.

ABOUT THE TRAVELER

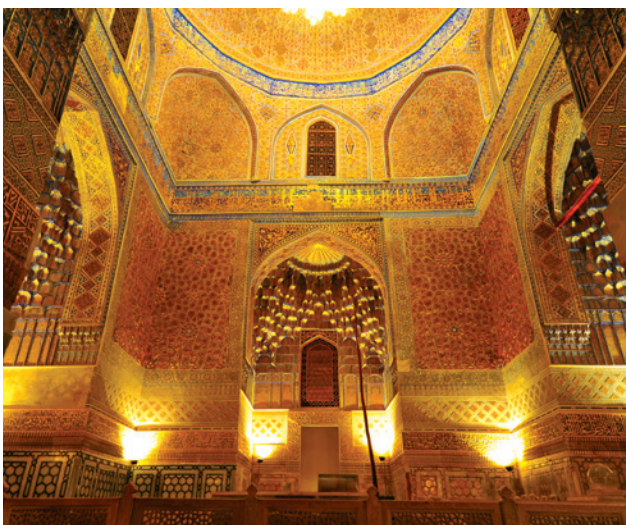

Shanna Bessant | Sales Director

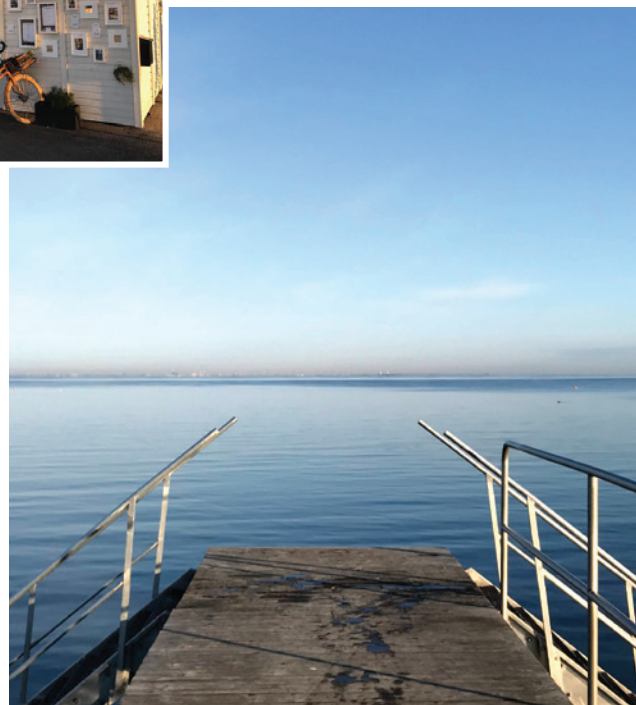

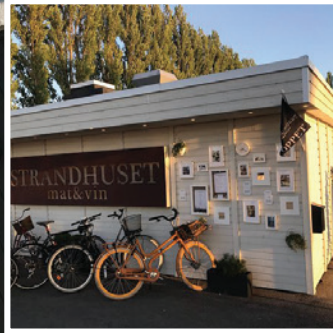

Shanna's personal passion is traveling the world to discover new cultures, people, food and history. She has visited at least one new country every year since she was born.

Malmö, Sweden

"Sweden's third-largest city is only a stone's throw from Copenhagen. Visitors can experience Malmö's cozy vibe and be in one of Europe's greatest international cities in less than 30 minutes via train."

Visit the kallbudhus for an open-air bath and rinse off in the (freezing) ocean, then enjoy a beer while taking in local architectural gems such as the "Turning Torso."

Grab a post-sauna snack or beverage at the Ribersborgs Kallbadhus, treat yourself to avant-garde fine dining at Vollmers or stop by one of many great bars on the Lilla Torg (Little Square).

ABOUT THE TRAVELER

Nicola Sheehan-Bjorklund |
Compliance and Privacy Specialist

Originally from County Cork, Ireland, Nicola now lives and works in Sweden with her partner and 12-year-old son. She enjoys swimming in the sea all year round.

Azores Islands, Portugal

"Each of the nine islands has its own unique flavor, but I'd most recommend Sao Miguel—it offers countryside tranquility, sandy beaches and European culture, all on one tiny island."

Soak in the hot springs of Terra Nostra Park, abseil down a waterfall in Ribeira dos Caldeiros and relax on the soft white sand of Praia do Fogo.

Enjoy the catch of the day at Casa Marisca, including the local cracas barnacle, or snag a Queijadas de Vila Franca, a traditional pastry originally crafted by the nuns of Santo André.

ABOUT THE TRAVELER

Kelly Cook | Sales Training
Content Specialist

Kelly grew up in Taunton, Mass., where she still lives with her husband, son and dog. She enjoys traveling, kayaking and family drives. As an 18-year-old, she taught ballroom and Latin dance.

Sicily, Italy

“It’s a beautiful island surrounded by three seas: the Mediterranean, the Tyrrhenian and the Ionian. While there are major cities, many areas are isolated—perfect for relaxing and rejuvenating your soul.”

Explore the archaeological site at the temples of Selinunte, enjoy a sunny day in the seaside town of San Vito Lo Capo or delve into the caves of Favignana.

Try a cannoli or cassata cake from a gelateria in any Sicilian town, stop by a rosticceria for roasted chicken and potatoes, or harvest one of the island’s wild-grown prickly pears.

ABOUT THE TRAVELER

Adrienne Cammareri | Associate VP, Tax

A Los Angeles native, Adrienne has lived in Las Vegas since 2003. She enjoys beaches, music festivals and great food. She and her husband plan to eventually retire to Sicily—his original home.

Narok, Kenya

“Being able to interact with lions, cheetahs, elephants and leopards in their natural habitat is incredible. The views are breathtaking and the people are wonderful. This vacation was life-changing.”

Join a daytime or nighttime safari at the Mara Plains Camp, plant trees as part of a local conservation project or head into Nairobi for world-class shopping and dining.

Whether staying at the Mara Plains Camp or visiting the city of Nairobi, discover Kenyan dishes such as irio (mashed peas and potato), githeri (beans and corn) or wali wa nazi (coconut rice).

ABOUT THE TRAVELER

Joshua Yoon | Major Account Executive

Originally from Los Angeles, Josh moved to Boston for college and has lived there since graduating in 2018. He can often be seen rocking ostrich-hide cowboy boots.

Zion National Park, Utah

"I've traveled across the country twice, and Zion has become a mandatory stop. The park is filled with a unique mix of fun characters all coming to see the astounding beauty of the canyon."

Hardcore hikers should try the Angels Landing trail for incredible views—so long as you don't mind heights. The Narrows offers lower altitudes but a wetter walk, for those so inclined.

Grab breakfast at Oscar's Café, enjoy a beer or two at the Zion Canyon Brew Pub then enjoy a nice dinner at Spotted Dog Café—or Zion Pizza and Noodle for more casual fare.

Kerala, India

"From hills and jungles, to tea plantations and ayurvedic massages, there is something for every traveler here. I feel so lucky to come from a place of such rich culture, beautiful sights and incredible food."

Rent a houseboat on the backwaters of Alleppey, visit a tea plantation or waterfall in Munnar, then step back in time at one of the region's visually striking temples and churches.

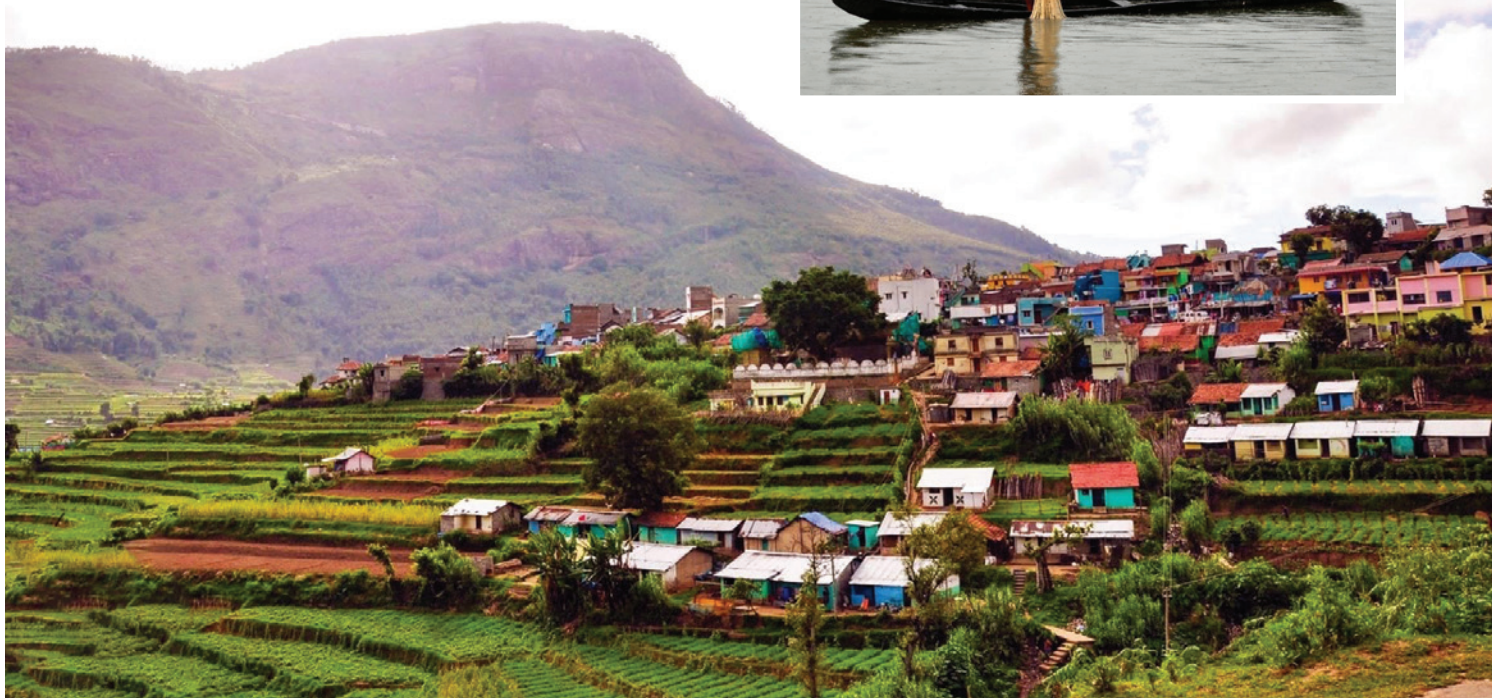

Foodies visiting Kerala should look for local crowds or ask their drivers to identify the best dining in the area. Roadside restaurants called thattukadas reliably offer delicious dishes.

ABOUT THE TRAVELER

Sharleen Lindsay | Senior Product Success Specialist

Sharleen found fleeting fame when a photo of her using an iPad was featured in an Apple Education Keynote and a major Indian newspaper article on digital textbooks. She was, in fact, playing Fruit Ninja.
